Subject: support changes to the structure of DSL and technology

Hi Johnathan.

I am a Verizon customer in Washington state who has waited over two plus years for DSL service. Just the other day I was told I qualified for DSL put when doing a further test of my line I was disqualified.

As I have read on the website I welcome anything that you can do to change the current limitaions of DSL. I need the limitations and technology to change that DSL can reach me. I am currently 17,000 feet away from a switching station and have 26 guage wire which does not allow my phone line to run DSL.

Please do what you can to get me DSL in the future.

I support all of your efforts in this manner at the current time.

Thanks,

Karl Durham
